

Clearing Geopathic Lines

with Cal Garrison

by Julia Griffin

As many of us realize, besides the harmonizing coherence of the Christ Grid, there also are negative configurations of energy that encircle the Earth.

Less well understood is the fact that areas of weather disturbances, and areas where the rate of crime and violence is high, can actually be mapped out just by knowing where these "geopathic" energy lines exist, and especially where they intersect. These predictable areas are especially prevalent in cities, because they are either created or exacerbated by technological emanations, especially from electricity and microwaves.

There are scientists who now insist that no negative effects of microwaves can be detected (see Microwaves and Civilization). But if the effects were not there, it would not be possible to make statistical predictions about weather patterns and human behavior just by knowing where these fields are at their strongest.

Slim Spurling is probably the world's expert in the field of study that correlates environmental energy with human health and emotion. He has developed tools for clearing this energy. The tools are based upon introducing back into the environment the original harmonics of Sacred Geometry: the template upon which Creation is built.

We interviewed Cal Garrison, who is currently co-authoring with Slim Spurling a book about geopathic fields and what they mean. Cal is also an experienced dowser who has helped many people to clear up their life situations through finding and then clearing the negative energy fields that often surround the work space and the home.

Julia: Tell us how you began working with Slim Spurling.

Cal: I had heard about him about through Drunvalo's Earth/Sky workshops, and then I heard about Slim's workshops. So I sent him an e-mail — and he replied that afternoon! I then held a workshop for him in Vermont. I learned his techniques, and I have used them since that time.

When I first heard about Slim, I couldn't believe that someone like him really existed. He is amazing. He is a true Druid. He never writes anything down, and he spends hours explaining everything to anyone who calls. He has an incredible dowsing ability. He has been and is my teacher.

I am writing a book with Slim and his wife, Katharina.

Julia: I understand that you've learned how people can actually clear their personal space, living areas, and communities of stressful energies, and that you help people do this. But before we get to the "how" part, let's talk about the actual kinds of geopathic stress that exist, and the effects they cause.

Cal: There is naturally occurring geopathic stress that is caused by fissures, underground waterways, or natural gases in the Earth. The ancients observed the landscape and avoided these areas of stress. The same is true of the Aborigines and other indigenous peoples that have a deep connection with the Earth. The Chinese dowsed for Dragon and Tiger lines over five thousand years ago. The absence of these lines guided them to the proper places for buildings.

Areas of geopathic stress can be easily observed in the landscape. For example, a twisted tree reflects geopathic stress. If the branch of a tree is growing at a 90-degree angle, this indicates that the tree is making an effort to grow out of a stressful area.

And wherever there is poverty, crime, or decay in a city, we find that the life force of that area is in the path of a negative frequency zone. This can actually be proven through dowsing.

In 1950, Ernst Hartmann discovered the Hartmann lines, which have been proven scientifically to exist. The Hartmann lines are essentially grid lines of energy that run from north to south and from east to west. They are caused by the overuse of electricity. Electricity, microwaves, cell phones, cell phone towers, power lines, and transformer boxes all form a wave or fog of negativity that surrounds us. These energies combine with natural Earth frequencies to form a curtain that extends as far as 60 feet below and above the Earth. These lines are approximately 9 inches wide, but increase to 30 inches when the moon is full.

It is known that wherever two or more Hartmann lines intersect, there is an island of negative frequency, and the life force is at a low level.

You can't escape or avoid this type of energy in a city, and it is a given that someone living in a heavily populated area has an increased risk of developing cancer. There are no Hartmann lines — and no cancer — in the Amazon. Ninety-nine percent of serious illnesses in cities are caused by Hartmann lines. When the Hartman lines or geopathic lines are cleared, a dying tree will revive.

After the Hartmann and geopathic lines are cleared, there is a third type of line: the personal or interference lines of energy. When I work with people, I ask them if there is anything they want to improve or correct in their lives. Areas of improvement may include relationships, children, spirit presences, or finances. Then I dowse to clear the lines that are interfering with harmony in those areas. For example, I might dowse around a house and ask to find the interference lines from the west that interfere with money. These lines can be dowsed and cleared.

Julia: What are some of the negative effects of these lines and what specific changes occur after the negative energies are cleared?

Cal: The effect of the lines of stress can include illness, unhappy relationships, financial stress and low energy level. Illnesses, in particular, are associated with these areas. Cardiovascular deficiency, attention deficit disorder, immune deficiency diseases, chronic fatigue, and cancer are examples of the effects of living in chronically stressed areas. The Hartmann Grids and Geopathic Zones adversely affect the cellular structure of living organisms.

Low-income areas, with the accompanying high crime rate, also tend to be stressed areas. A high crime rate also is associated especially with Hartmann lines.

Julia: What kinds of changes take place when energies have been changed or cleared?

Cal: The changes are very dramatic. Relationships change profoundly. Disagreements end. It is a given that if you are having trouble with your teenager, the disharmonious state will end after the lines of stress are changed. Health issues are resolved. Finances can change profoundly, as well.

Slim Spurling once cleared a businessman's office, and the man received over six million dollars in contracts within three weeks. I cleared a business that was having a great deal of difficulty. There was essentially no income, and the owner had terrible disputes with her employees. After clearing geopathic stress, she received two million dollars in contracts, and her employees either happily cooperated or quit.

It's important to realize that the clearing is not just about the geopathic stress lines — it is our own energy that interferes with our success. This magnetizes us to surroundings that vibrate with frequencies that match whatever the problem or block may be. But when the energies or external influences are cleared, the emotional constructs or brain waves that feed the problem also clear.

Julia: Okay, now I think we realize that it would be a good idea for us to find and clear the geopathic lines in our own living and work spaces. How can we do this? What techniques do you use?

Cal: We find and clear geopathic stress by first of all creating a dowsing tool. Dowsing rods can be made from metal coat hangers or copper wire (insulated number 12 and solid), or copper-coated, mild steel gas welding rods (3/23-inch size). The wire should be 18 inches long, and the last 5 inches should be formed into an L-shape. The last 5 inches is the handle. Pendulums also work, but many people prefer the rods.

Hold one rod in each hand and repeat your intention to yourself. For example, "I'm going to find underground water." The rods will usually move outwardly from one another, or they will turn toward one another. This indicates the location of your intention. The rods may also turn toward the source that you are seeking.

When searching for geopathic stress, it is best to begin with the Hartmann lines. These lines run north-south and east-west.

Hold the rods and say out loud or to yourself, "I am looking for the Hartmann lines coming in from the North, South, East, and West." You want to make sure you are blocking lines on their way in, not on their way out. The geopathic stress lines are then located. You will hold the thought or intention that you are looking for geopathic stress lines coming in from the North, South, East, and West.

The personal and interference lines are then identified in a similar fashion. The directionality of these lines is random. When you have found the spot where the line exists, you have to move until the dowsing rods are straight, indicating the exact direction of flow.

This time, you say, "I am looking for the interference lines coming in that that block money," or relationship, or whatever.

When the lines have been identified, you block the flow by using an L-rod. This is an 18-inch copper L-rod, just like your dowsing rods, that you've made beforehand. You would hammer the 5-inch portion of one of these rods into the ground with the long part perpendicular to the line of stress, and then cover the whole thing with earth (see NOTE). In other words, the line of stress is actually stapled, or stopped, and the lines of stress will flow over your house or business. Essentially, you create a bubble of a frequency-free zone.

There will be an immediate difference in your surroundings. You can easily perceive the difference. Thousands of people have benefited from clearing their property of geopathic stress and have experienced improvement in finances, health, and relationships almost immediately.

Julia: Some practitioners talk about clearing a property through working with the devas. What do you think?

Cal: I am very aware of the presence of the fairies and devas, but it takes a great deal of time and communication to create a clearing in this way. Also, one would have to maintain that connection, by periodically renewing it and asking for their cooperation. It is possible, but it would take a tremendous amount of energy and time.

Personally, I like the idea of creating the grids in the earth. It's like casting a physical spell. I know the rods are there, and that it is real. It's hands-on, and it's practical. I don't have to think about whether or not it's working.

Julia: What about using one of Slim Spurling's harmonizers?

Cal: I do think that the devas probably benefit from the use of a harmonizer. The harmonizer has a positive effect on everything in its field. But I don't think that this is the same effect as stapling the lines.

Julia: Please tell me about the harmonizer. What is it and how does it affect energy fields?

Cal: The harmonizers have an incredible effect on your surroundings. They clear the energy around you. We are living in a weird, strange world with ELF and microwaves. The unseen frequencies have had a huge effect. They cut through our biofields, and we're swimming in the microwaves. The harmonizer creates a world that remains clear of that energy. It creates the frequency of harmony in your life.

My entire life changed when I began using an environmental harmonizer. A publisher called and asked me to write a book. That never happens — you look for a publisher, right? I lost weight, moving from a size 14 to a size 6. My whole world expanded after I began using it.

Anything can be put in the harmonizer, such as water, food, or intentions, and the energy is heightened or changed. I often put homeopathic remedies in the harmonizer, and the molecules of the remedy will travel through your home. You can write a note expressing intention, such as resolution to a problem, and place it in the harmonizer to eliminate the frequencies of the related problem or illnesses from your life. Any intention will be broadcast through them the same way the frequencies are spread or diffused if you will them into the Unified Field.

It is important to keep in mind that these devices work without intent, too. What this means is that there is a wisdom inherent in the Sacred Geometry and the cubit lengths employed in their construction that "knows" what is needed to restore harmony to any situation. I always say to people who ask me about putting intention into them that, yes, you can do that, but we're talking about God and Light here, so it's just as productive to sit back and allow Spirit to move the way it needs to.

Either way is fine.

Once you begin using the harmonizer, anything that is not of the Light has to go. It actually harmonizes everything in your environment with your higher self. It sends out the frequency of the human heart, or love. It creates a portal for the Light, and I believe that the angels and higher beings perceive the portal. They are interested in the portal's field, and it magnifies the energy that they send.

The harmonizer incorporates laws of physics and ancient metaphysical laws based on the measurement of the cubit. In the ancient world, there were at least 19 known cubit lengths — possibly more, but we know of 19. Each cubit measurement was known to be like a face of God in a numerical code.

There are two known cubit lengths — the Sacred Cubit and the Lost Cubit. When a known cubit length makes a closed circuit or loop, it creates a frequency.

The Sacred Cubit is based on measurements from the King's Chamber in the Great Pyramid. It has a natural harmonic constant in both length and natural resonant frequency that relates to the speed of light in free space, or 144,000 geodetic miles-per-second.

The Lost Cubit seems to be associated with Conscious Creation. It vibrates faster than the speed of light, at 177,000 megahertz.

The harmonizer is composed of 3 rings in a pattern (Sacred Cubit) in which all three rings are anchored equally from one another. This creates beams of light that vibrate at a high frequency and radiate in all directions of the field. This creates a spherical toroidal field of light that vibrates at 144 megahertz.

The toroidal field vibrates at the speed of light. Every atom, every electron in the field of the harmonizer is activated or injected with more light, so that the atoms and electrons vibrate at a higher level. We know from both a metaphysical and a scientific perspective that everything is light. The harmonizer adds light energy to any situation, environment, or to physical matter. The laws of physics dictate that the higher energy eliminates or pushes away the lower waves of energy that would normally bombard you.

The harmonizer is also an energy source. It takes ten electron volts to raise the orbital level of an electron one quanta, which is a tiny measure of light. But scientific tests show that water exposed to the rings or Caduceus coil emit light. If ten electron volts are multiplied by the number of atoms in a glass of water, then high mathematical figures will result. The change occurs because of the tensor or field of energy. An enormous amount of current at no voltage is produced. The coils produce an infinite amount of power at no cost.

Julia: Can you tell me about the different types of harmonizers? What about placement, and using CDs with them?

Cal: There is a personal harmonizer that will work on your own field of energy. The environmental harmonizer extends frequencies for 15 miles, and the agricultural harmonizer has a frequency of 65 miles.

You can play a CD through the harmonizer, and the frequency will extend the field. But it will still work without the frequencies. You sound-position the device between the speakers of the CD player, with headphones on top of the harmonizer, and turn the volume down below the audible level. Even though you can't hear it, the harmonizer is still vibrating. The only problem is that you'll need to purchase a new CD player for playing your other CDs.

There are two frequencies often used. For one of these, Bob Dratch and Slim created a molecular scan of the water molecule, and it was transferred to an environmental frequency. The water molecule frequency is used for clearing.

There is also the King's Chamber frequency that is great for meditating. It brings people together and fosters a sense of connectedness. It also brings down the barriers that sometimes occur in a group of people.

Julia: What are your plans for the future? Will you continue working with Slim Spurling?

Cal: Yes. Ultimately, we hope to create a place where we all have free energy. This is what life is about, as well as what Slim is trying to create. It is about being in harmony with all things, and creating a world in which it is possible for all of us to do what we truly want to do.

Cal Garrison practices environmental clearing, coordinates workshops with Slim Spurling, and is co-authoring a book with him.

A professional astrologer, she studied with Charles Jayne and has cast over 3,000 charts. She writes about astrology for Wisdom magazine, and is currently writing a book on astrology. She also is the author of two books about witchcraft, The Old Girls' Book of Spells and The Old Girls' Book of Dreams — A Book of Shadows for Crones.

Harmonizers and other similar Spurling inventions are available through the Spirit of Ma'at (see Functional Art Forms from Slim Spurling). For more information about Slim Spurling, you may visit his website at SlimSpurling.com.

Note: Some people use two L-rods overlapping, so that the "handles" are on either side, forming a u-shaped bridge. You would then hammer the 5-inch ends into either side in such a way that the entire "staple" thus created is exactly perpendicular to the direction of the energy line you are blocking.
